San Diego, USA
4445 Eastgate Mall, Suite 200
CA, 92121
www.effectivesoft.com

20 October 2026

To Whom It May Concern

Re: Darya Drobova

I am pleased to recommend Darya as an outstanding Business Intelligence professional and a highly energetic, engaged, and motivated person. During her time at EffectiveSoft, she consistently impressed us with her combination of deep technical expertise, strong business acumen, leadership skills, and genuine passion for what she does.

One of Darya's most significant achievements was initiating and leading the development of the company's internal dashboard platform in her role as Technical Product Owner and BI Lead. The platform was designed to support C-level management and key business stakeholders in tracking critical business KPIs across areas such as finance, HR, talent utilization, and sales. Under Darya's leadership, the platform grew to 10 dashboards serving different stakeholders across the organization. These solutions significantly improved transparency, accelerated decision-making, and enabled more effective day-to-day management of the business. Darya was involved throughout the entire process — from understanding business needs and gathering requirements to designing BI solutions, coordinating delivery, and ensuring that the final products met the expectations of senior stakeholders.

Darya also made a valuable contribution to the company's early-career talent development program. She created and delivered a dedicated BI training module for young professionals, conducted hands-on training sessions, mentored participants, and provided detailed feedback. Her ability to explain complex BI concepts in a clear and accessible way made her an excellent mentor. The program ultimately helped the company identify and hire talented young professionals, some of whom continue to contribute to the organization today.

I would also like to emphasize Darya's strong people-management skills in her capacity as BI Unit Leader. She demonstrates authentic leadership, earning the trust and respect of others through her actions rather than her title. She made valuable contributions to our recruitment process by participating in both technical and behavioral interviews. Beyond hiring, she showed a strong commitment to developing team members, using performance reviews and structured growth plans to support their continued professional advancement. She is highly respected across the company for the kind of leader she is.

In addition to her delivery and people management responsibilities, Darina actively supported sales and pre-sales activities. She contributed expert articles and thought leadership content, prepared presentations for prospective clients, participated in solution estimations, and developed prototypes to demonstrate potential BI solutions. Her ability to listen carefully to clients, understand their underlying business needs, and translate those needs into practical and compelling solutions made her a valuable contributor to business development efforts.

From a technical perspective, Darya is a highly skilled BI and data visualization professional with hands-on expertise in Power BI, Tableau, Cognos, Metabase, Apache Superset, Yandex DataLens, Visiology, Looker, and other BI tools. What truly sets her apart is her ability to combine strong technical expertise with a deep understanding of business needs and stakeholder expectations. She is proactive, reliable, detail-oriented, and an excellent communicator who can turn complex technical concepts into clear, practical solutions. Her enthusiasm for BI is contagious, and she is a genuine team player who brings energy and a positive attitude to everything she does. Darya's expertise and creativity in data visualization have also been recognized through multiple wins in professional BI and data visualization challenges and competitions.

I would highly recommend Darya to any organization looking for a strong BI professional, technical leader, and trusted partner to senior management. I am confident that she would be a valuable addition to any team and would make a meaningful impact in her next role.

Yours faithfully,

Andrey Stasishin
Senior Data Solutions Architect
andrey.stasishin@effective-soft.com

